

QuickStart Guide to using lawcite

Contents

1 Intro	1
----------------	----------

Table of Cases

Donoghue v. Stevenson [1932] AC 562	4
Mr Smith v. Mrs Smith , XYZ SC, Case : N-20-1/456	3
PartyAName v. PartyB Inc , Supreme Court of Somewhere, Commercial Division, Civil List, Case number: N-20-1/456	1

1 Intro

The lc-proceedings citation command, \lcproc, looks for the bibentry fields shown in code listing 1.

\lcproc{abcproc} produces:

PartyAName v. PartyB Inc, Supreme Court of Somewhere, Commercial Division, Civil List, Case number: N-20-1/456

```

@case{abcproc, partya = {PartyAName},
  partyb = {PartyB Inc}, courtname = {Supreme Court of Somewhere}, courtdivision = {Commercial Division},
  courtlist = {Civil List}, %  courtjurisdiction,
  casenumber ={N-20-1/456},
}

```

Code listing 1: Example

The index style file, plain.ist, has to contain the formatting code as shown in listing 2 for the page numbers in the Table of Cases to hyperlink correctly.

```

delim_0 "\\space\\dotfill\\space "\\hss
delim_1 "\\space\\dotfill\\space "\\hss
delim_2 "\\space\\dotfill\\space "\\hss
delim_n ", " delim_r "--" delim_t "" encap_prefix "\\ " encap_infix "{"
encap_suffix "}"
line_max 1000

```

Code listing 2: Code for plain.ist file for SplitIndex

Mr Smith v. Mrs Smith, XYZ SC, Case : N-20-1/456

The \lawcite command's indexing capability has been enhanced to also include page hyperlinking in the Table of Cases, like \lproc does.

Example:

Donoghue v. Stevenson [1932] AC 562 (HL)

–0000000–